“A special House For a Special Family”

There are families and families. Some families live in a house or in a flat. Some families live in the city or in a town. Some families live on a farm in the country. But there are some families that are very special. They live everywhere, in a tree, on a window or under the roof of a house. Who are they? They are the Red Ovenbirds; called “ Horneros” or “Caseros” in Argentina.

Red Ovenbirds have got big families; usually the mother, the father and 2 to 6 babies. They live in a very comfortable nest, their home, for a time. Then, the kids leave their parents to build their homes and form their own families. And the parents? They build a new home, sometimes on the old nest and start a new family.

These lovely birds are great parents and they are great architects, too. Mother and Father are together all their lives and build their home in 6 to 8 days with the “adobe” technique. The nest is spherical (like a ball or an oven) and it is strong and safe for all the family. It has only one door and there aren’t any windows, but it has got a living room and a bedroom. Yes! Two rooms!

Red Ovenbirds are very special. Are there any Red Ovenbirds near your home? Look around and find out!
