Do you have an iPad, iPod, iPhone, a smartwatch or a Mac computer? If you don't, you probably know someone who has one (or wants one)! Steve Jobs made the company – Apple – that created these things that are now such an important part of the lives of millions of people.

He was born on February 24, 1955, in San Francisco, California. When he was a boy, he had a special hobby: he liked to take apart televisions and put them back together again. He was a very good student in school and even skipped a grade. After he finished grade four, he went into grade six, and in 1972, when he was seventeen, he graduated from high school. He then began his studies in Reed College, in Portland, Oregon, but dropped out after six months. Deciding to quit was not at all easy. It was difficult, but as Jobs later said, "I had no idea what I wanted to do with my life." Two years later in 1974, he travelled to India, and while there he learned about Buddhism.

After Steve Jobs returned to the United States, he found a job as a video game designer at a company called Atari, and two years after that, in 1976, when he was only twenty-one years old, he created his own company – Apple Computer – with his friend, Steve Wozniak. Steve Jobs later got married in 1991 and had four children. Unfortunately, doctors discovered that he had cancer in 2003 and in 2011 he died at the age of only 58.

Stay safe online!

Everyone loves the Internet! You can do a lot of great things online: play games, download music, or read about your favourite band. However, the Internet isn't always safe. Nobody controls the information on it, and everyone can use it. Here are a few rules to keep you safe online.

You must keep your passwords secret. Don't share them with your friends, and don't save them in a file on your computer. People can use your passwords to enter websites that you use and find information about you.

You mustn't open a file, message, or photo from a person you don't know. Sometimes these things contain viruses, and they can damage your computer.

Only give personal information on safe sites. You mustn't give your name, address, or phone number to anyone you don't know.

You mustn't put your photos on public sites. Anyone can look at them, and sometimes people copy photos from the Internet and use them for the wrong things.

If someone on the Internet asks you to meet them, you must say no and tell your parents. Some people don't tell the truth on the Internet and invent information. It can be very dangerous to meet online friends. You must tell your parents, or an adult if you aren't sure about anything.
